Pathway 2: Exchanging a Foreign Driving License

Lots of expats transferring to Belgium already hold a valid driving license from their home country. Depending on where the license was provided, individuals may be eligible to exchange it directly for a Belgian equivalent without taking brand-new tests.

Exchange Eligibility Categories:

- EU/EEA Licenses: Licenses provided by any European Union member state, Iceland, Norway, or Liechtenstein are typically legitimate in Belgium up until their expiration date. Nevertheless, holders can willingly sign up or exchange them at their regional commune.
- Non-EU/Non-EEA Licenses with Reciprocity Agreements: Belgium has bilateral arrangements with specific non-EU nations (such as Switzerland, Japan, or certain US states, subject to regular updates). Holders of these licenses can typically exchange them directly, provided they have resided in Belgium lawfully for a defined minimum period (usually 185 days) before using.
- Other Non-EU Licenses: If the home nation does not have a reciprocity arrangement with Belgium, the license holder generally can not exchange it. They need to follow Pathway 1: taking the Belgian theory and useful tests from scratch.

Where to Go for an Exchange:

Applications for license exchanges should be submitted personally at the regional community workplace (commune or gemeente) of the candidate's main place of home.

Pathway 3: Using a Non-Exchangeable License Temporarily

For travelers, temporary workers, or students from non-EU nations who can not exchange their licenses, driving legally in Belgium is still possible under specific conditions:

- Period Limits: Non-EU licenses are normally just valid for the first 185 days following formal registration in a Belgian town. After this duration, residents should either exchange their license (if eligible) or get a local Belgian license.
