Nasal congestion that never fully clears is easy to dismiss as allergies or a habit of sleeping with the mouth open. For some people the underlying cause is structural, such as a deviated septum or narrowing inside the nose, and sprays may only help so much. Residents of Rancho Park and Cheviot Hills, the quiet neighborhoods around the Rancho Park golf course, who have lived with that kind of blockage for years may want an evaluation from a surgeon trained in both breathing and appearance. Dr. Jacob Sedgh sees patients at his office at 9201 Sunset Blvd in West Hollywood. Dr. Sedgh is board certified in otolaryngology, the specialty also known as ENT or head and neck surgery, and he completed fellowship training in facial plastic and reconstructive surgery. His rhinoplasty practice includes septorhinoplasty and functional nasal surgery for deviated septum and breathing problems, as well as cosmetic rhinoplasty. That combination matters because the inside and outside of the nose are connected. Straightening a septum can affect support for the tip, and changing the shape of the nose can affect airflow, so planning both together tends to make more sense than treating them as separate questions.

Septorhinoplasty addresses the septum and the external shape of the nose in the same operation. Some people are mainly interested in breathing and want the appearance left largely as it is. Others have a crooked nose that both looks off center and blocks airflow on one side. A medical evaluation, which includes examining the inside of the nose, decides what is actually causing the symptoms and whether surgery is appropriate. Every nose is different, results vary, and the risks of any nasal operation should be talked through with the surgeon before a decision is made. Getting to the Sunset Strip from Cheviot Hills or Rancho Park typically means heading north, with routes such as Robertson Blvd or La Cienega Blvd carrying traffic up toward West Hollywood. The office sits near the Doheny Drive edge of Beverly Hills and is open Monday to Friday, 9am to 5pm, with consultations by appointment. On Google, where the practice holds 4.7 stars from about 156 reviews, people commonly mention careful attention to detail and an attentive staff. Los Angeles Nose Job For anyone comparing rhinoplasty surgeons in Los Angeles with breathing as a priority, the ENT background is a practical point to weigh alongside cosmetic goals and recovery planning. A Los Angeles nose job does not have to be purely cosmetic, and for many people the motivation starts with the simple wish to breathe through both sides of the nose. To have your breathing and nasal structure assessed, call (310) 888-2884 and book a consultation at the Sunset Blvd office in West Hollywood. Fees depend on the procedure, its complexity, anesthesia and facility charges, and they are quoted during the consultation.

FAQ About Los Angeles Nose Job What is the average cost of a nose job in Los Angeles? There is no single figure, because the fee depends on whether the surgery is primary or revision, how much structural work is needed, and the anesthesia and surgical facility costs. Revision and combined functional and cosmetic cases usually take longer than a straightforward primary rhinoplasty. At Jacob Sedgh, MD in West Hollywood, a written quote follows the consultation once Dr. Sedgh has examined the nose and agreed a plan with the patient. How long does a nose job last? The structural changes from rhinoplasty are designed to be permanent, although the nose continues to age naturally with the rest of the face. Swelling settles gradually, and the tip can take a year or more to show its final definition. Dr. Jacob Sedgh follows patients through that first year from his office on Sunset Blvd. Is rhinoplasty 100% safe? No surgery is free of risk. Rhinoplasty carries risks such as bleeding, infection, breathing changes, asymmetry and the possibility of needing revision. Dr. Sedgh, a double board-certified facial plastic surgeon, reviews medical history, candidacy and specific risks at consultation so patients can make an informed decision before anything is scheduled. How do I choose a rhinoplasty surgeon in Los Angeles? Look at board certification, the surgeon's training, how much of their practice is devoted to the nose, and before and after photos of noses similar to yours. Dr. Jacob Sedgh trained in head and neck surgery at the University of Pittsburgh and completed a facial plastic surgery fellowship at Penn State Hershey, and his practice is limited to the nose, face, ears and neck. A consultation is also a chance to judge how clearly a surgeon explains the plan. Do ENT surgeons do rhinoplasty? Many facial plastic surgeons, including Dr. Sedgh, began in otolaryngology, the ENT specialty, before completing fellowship training in facial plastic and reconstructive surgery. That background means the septum, airway and nasal valves are part of every rhinoplasty plan, not only the outside shape. Patients with breathing complaints can have functional and cosmetic goals assessed together in West Hollywood. Can insurance cover any part of a nose job? Purely cosmetic rhinoplasty is not covered by insurance. Functional work, such as correcting a deviated septum that blocks breathing, may be partly covered when the problem is documented and the plan's criteria are met. Jacob Sedgh, MD can explain which parts of a combined procedure are functional and which are cosmetic; call (310) 888-2884 to ask. What is recovery like after rhinoplasty? Most patients wear a splint for about the first week and see the worst bruising and swelling fade over the following weeks, although every recovery is different. Strenuous exercise, glasses resting on the nose and strong sun are usually limited for a period. Dr. Sedgh uses the Piezo ultrasonic system for bone work, which published studies associate with less early bruising, and he gives each patient written aftercare instructions. Is it better to have a nose job abroad or in Los Angeles? Surgery abroad can look cheaper at first, but follow-up visits, managing complications and any future revision are much harder from another country. Having rhinoplasty in Los Angeles keeps the surgeon within reach for the whole first year of healing. Patients from across the city, including Beverly Hills, Century City, Westwood and Culver City, see Dr. Sedgh at one office on the Sunset Strip. What is male rhinoplasty? Male rhinoplasty adapts the operation to masculine facial features, usually keeping a straighter, stronger bridge and avoiding an over-rotated or overly narrow tip. Many men also want better breathing at the same time. Dr. Jacob Sedgh plans male rhinoplasty around the brow, cheekbones and jawline so the nose stays in proportion with the face. What is revision rhinoplasty and when is it needed? Revision rhinoplasty corrects concerns that remain after an earlier nose surgery, whether cosmetic or functional. It is more intricate than a first operation because of scar tissue, reduced cartilage and changed skin. Dr. Sedgh evaluates the previous surgery and generally advises waiting until the nose has fully settled before planning a revision at his West Hollywood practice. What is the difference between open and closed rhinoplasty? Open rhinoplasty adds a small incision across the columella, the strip of skin between the nostrils, which gives the surgeon a direct view of the tip structures. Closed rhinoplasty keeps all incisions inside the nose. The right approach depends on the anatomy and the changes needed, and Dr. Sedgh explains his recommendation at consultation. Is a non-surgical nose job permanent? A non-surgical nose job uses injectable filler to smooth a bump or lift the tip, and the effect is temporary. Filler cannot make a nose smaller or improve breathing, and it carries its own risks. Jacob Sedgh, MD offers both injectable and surgical options and can explain which suits a patient's goals; call (310) 888-2884 to book a consultation.
